MONEY, BONDS AND STOCKS. A Quiet Day in New York, the Business Being

Entirely Local. NEW YORK, Nov. 26 .- Money on call was easy at 2 to 3 per cent., the last loan being made at 24; closing offered at 24. Prime mercantile paper, 43 @61 per cent. Sterling exchange was dull at $4.85 for sixty-day bills and $4.881 for demand. The total sales of stocks to-day were 211,370 shares, including the following: Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, 8,500; Erie, 4,900; Lake Shore, 10,900; Missouri Pacific, 8,020; Northwestern, 8,300; Northern Pacific preferred, 9,231; Reading, 30,900; Richmond & West Point, 22,800; St. Paul, 27,100; Union Pacific, 15,970

Western Union, 12,000. Stocks were quiet throughout. Other than local business was restricted by loss of wires. Coverings by "shorts" late broke the otherwise weak tone of the market. There were heavy sales, apparently for Boston, in New England and Union Pacific, and the latter, with Lake Shore and Louisville & Nashville, were sold abroad. The gold exports scare was worked strong. Foreign exchange, however, had a weak look. Rock Island was said not to have given consent to the advance of rates in the Southwest. Omaha preferred and St. Paul suffered materially, and Richmond & West Point displayed marked strength. The market finally closed dull and heavy at close to the lowest fig-

Railroad bonds were usually dull, the sales of all issues aggregating only $623,000. The final changes are generally in the direction of higher

CHICAGO, Nov. 26 .- A good speculative business was transacted in wheat. The feeling was unsettled and lower prices were established. A feature of the market was the weakness in December delivery, owing to selling out of some "long" wheat in anticipation of a squeeze. Corn was moderately active and quotably weaker. The opening was to lower than the closing prices of Saturday, ruled steady for a time, then sold off ic, and closed ic lower for December and ic lower for November than on Saturday. In oats | bales were for speculation and export, and included a good business was transacted at lower and | 6,900 bales American. irregular prices. The market opened weak at go decline from Saturday's close. There was a further decline of ic in May, a rally of to followed, and the market closed easy at ic below the opening figures. A comparatively light business was reported in mess pork, and the market was steadier. A stronger feeling was developed in lard, and prices averaged higher. The leading futures ranged as follows:

Statement Showing the Visible Supply in the United States. NEW YORK, Nov. 26 .- The following is a statement of the visible supply of grain affoat and in store on Saturday, Nov. 24, as compiled at the Produce Exchange:

Wheat, 35,238,047 bu, an increase of 426,025 bu; corn, 6,974,926 bu, a decrease of 1,215,594 bu; oats, 7,627,121 bu, a decrease of 129,166 bu; rye, 1,730,921 bu, an increase of 169,347 bu; barley, 2,062,348 bu, an increase of 247,430 bu.

The visible supply of gain, in comparison with that of one week ago, according to the Chicago Board of Trade official report, is as follows: Wheat, increase, 420,000 bu; corn, decrease, 1,220,000 bu; oats, decrease, 293,000 bu: rye, increase, 171,000 bu; barley, increase, 248,000 bu.

The Foreign Grain Trade. LONDON, Nov. 26 .- The Mark Lane Express, in its review, says: English wheat is dull. The sales were 54,432 quarters at 31s 9d, against 65,-108 quarters, at 30s 9d during the corresponding period last year. Country flour was scarce, and prices against buyers. Foreign wheats were quiet, stocks increasing at Liverpool, and prices are 1d per cental lower. Corn quiet; round is 3s 6d higher; American mixed weak. Linseed has declined 6d. Nine cargoes of wheat arrived, two cargoes were sold, three were withdrawn, and three remained. At to-day's market English wheat was firm; foreign was 6d to 1s cheaper. Good flour maintained prices; common declined 6d. American corn was against buyers. Oats, beans and peas tended higher. Linseed was down 6d, at 45s 6d ex-ship.

TRADE IN GENERAL.

Quotations at St. Louis, Philadelphis, Baltimore, Cincinnati and Other Points. ST. LOUIS, Nov. 26 .- Flour quiet and unchanged. Wheat lower. The opening was 310 lower on un-favorable cables, declines elsewhere and large receipts locally, but there was a good demand and reactions at other points, causing 5sc raily, only to be followed by a sharp break of 7sc. From this point sold up 1 9-16c, but later broke rapidly and closed 5sc below Saturday. No. 2 red, cash, $1.0012. nominal; De-1.06 8 2 1.08 8, closing at $1.0678. Corn-No. 2, cash, lower. Options lower, and depressed by heavy receipts, cold weather and decline in all markets. Selling was liberal and demand slow, so that the 1,200,000 bu decrease in the visible supply failed to rally prices any. No. 2, cash, 35c; November, 35c, closing at 35c; year, 3278@333cc, closing at 33c; May, 3518@3514c, closing at 354c asked. Oats lower; cash, 24c bid; May, 30@301sc. Rye—No. 2, 50c bid. MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 26 .- The board-showed reseipts of 672 cars of wheat here for the forty-eight hours and the bulk of it was offered for sale on the sample tables. Buyers were holding off in the first half of the session on the prospect of a further decline in speculative markets, but these gave evidence of more strength than the market for cash wheat. Later buying was stimulated a little, but not all the offerings were cleared up. Sellers were holding at about Saturday's closing prices, but some reductions were also offered without finding buyers. No. 1 Northern was held at $1.09 and No. 2 Northern at $1.

INDIANAPOLIS MARKETS.

Trade a Little Off, Owing to the Strike, but the Fluctuations in Values Are Few.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 26. In most departments of trade, to-day, a little duliness was noticeable, which is chargeable to the strike. A number of the merchants made arrangements to ship light packages by express, but in the afternoon of the day, however, they commenced shipping by freight, having been notified by most of the roads that they were again prepared to forward business. In prices, to-day, there were but few changes, most articles carrying a steady tone. The New York Bulletin says regarding coffees:

"Nine operators out of ten would call the market for Brazils, in a general way, strong and promising. Jobbers who have of late had a good business, of course, are very cheerful; those who may not have been quite so success ful in distributing stock, encouraged by the experience of their neighbors, build up a hopeful feeling and act accordingly, and importers naturally expect to benefit through any realization of promising ideas regarding consumption, while the speculation for a rise pins its faith on the predictions of short crops and is waiting for a boom. In view of apparent generally favorable ele-ments, however, it has been something of a disappointment of late that the buoyancy was not of a more pronounced character, the eleventhhour 'bulls' in particular feeling chagrined and seeking an explanation, without success in obtaining a very clear elucidation."

Refined sugars are not so strong as last week, and talk of cutting down production is again heard, in order to retain the usual wide margin of profit for the "combine." Canned goods rule firmer as it becomes better understood that some descriptions are not in as large supply as last year. The produce markets were fairly active to-day, poultry carrying a steadier tone than last week, but the receipts have tallen off somewhat. Butter and eggs are both in light supply

The attendance on 'Change to day was slim wheat and corn ruled lower than on Saturday, while oats were firm on an increased consumptive demand and light receipts. Winter Dairying.

Correspondent Country Gentleman. Some time during the past summer my attention was attracted by a query in your colums from a correspondent, asking where he might co to learn butter-making in winter. Your reply that there were very few farmers, and you thought no cremeries, in New York that made butter in winter, was very suggestive of a made butter in winter, was very suggestive of a method of dairying whereby the profits of the farm might be increased to a considerable extent. The writer spent the year 1887 in the great New York dairy region—Orange county, which supplies so much milk to New York city. In winter milk was high and scarce. The supply was inadequate to the demand. In summer these conditions were reversed.

Many of the farmers who shipped their own

Many of the farmers who shipped their own milk were frequently notified that the full quantity they were producing could not be accepted. Frequently they lost a shipment because it was reported sour. Notwithstanding these facts very few made a speciality of producing milk in winter, when it was 50 per cent. higher, no trouble in shipment and no complaints about sour milk.

The two things necessary to the profitable production of winter milk are warm stables and a proper provision for supplying cows with good milk-producing food. I have no fear of successful contradiction when I assert that for the production of milk for New York market a man can realize 40 per cent. more from a cow coming fresh in October than in April. By a careful comparison of milk records of cows dropping their calves at all seasons of the year, I am satisfied that the cow dropping her calf in fall will give 20 per cent. more milk than at any other season of the year. Add to this the higher price of dairy products, whether milk or butter, that may be realized in winter, and the large profit will be at once apparent.

Nor is the advantage confined to the milk business. It is fully as great, if not more so, in connection with butter-making. Here at home we have gradually been changing a herd of twenty cows from summer to winter dairying. We have found the average price of butter gradually raised; also the average production per cow. In fact, the increased profit amounts to about 50 per cent. Winter butter-making is also found much more agreeable than summer.

I have been in many large and costly dairies in the East, yet I have seen few that are more convenient, or better adapted to the wants of the ordinary farmer who makes butter-making one of the sources of farm revenue, than one I erected five years ago, and I inclose berewith a sketch of the ground plan. The building is 12x24 feet, and 8 feet high, divided into two rooms of equal size. One used as a dairy-room, one as an ice-house. The frame is 2x4—boarded upright—joists covered with ogee bats. Dairy-room lathed and plastered. Ice-house bearded inside and space filled with sawdast.

A creamer, known as the Delaware county creamer, is used. Milk is all strained in a single dish. The water-tank is filled by means of a force pump and hose placed under porch in front of the house. The overflow pipe runs into a tank, which is used, for watering garden. It may also be run into a water trough some

A tin pipe, with fundel attached, is used for drawing milk from the creamer in summer, when it is conducted foto a tank placed outside the building. In winfer a small stove is placed in the room. A cool from is built in one corner of the ice-house. We use no butter-workersalting butter in the churn and packing direct from chure. Experience has taught ne that a butter-worker is a useless piece of furniture in a dairy. The only object of a butter-worker is to press the butter fimly together and press out the water. This may just as well !

be accomplished in packing the butter in the tub, by a little extra effort and pains. This also saves butter from being overworked and salvy. Undoubtedly the subject I have written on is a hackneyed one. But it is said to have taken 1,000 pounds of lead to kill a man during the last war, when an ounce might have killed him just as dead; so it takes a gallon of printer's ink to get a single new truth grounded in the ordinary farmer's mind. Household Hints.

separate boxes. To take spots of paint from wood, lay a thick coating of lime and soda mixed over it, letting it etay twenty-four hours, then wash off with warm water and the spots will disappear.

Use a penny to remove paint spots from glass.

Different flavors of cake should be kept in

Coffee pounded in a mortar and roasted on an iron plate, sugar burned on hot coals and vinegar boiled with myrhh and sprinkled on the floor and furniture of a sick room are excellent

A handy furniture polish, highly praised by a housekeeper, is a mixture of olive oil, one part, and vinegar, two parts. Apply it to the furniture with a canton-flaunel cloth. Rub dry with another cloth of the same material. In beating cake beat from the bottom of the mixing-bowl with a wooden spoon, bringing it up full and high with each stroke, and as soon as the ingredients are fairly and smoothly mixed stop beating or your cake will be tough. A dark carpet often looks dusty so soon after it has been swept that you know it does not need sweeping sgain, so wet a cloth or sponge, wring it almost dry and wipe off the dust. A few drops of ammonia in the water will brighten

Scientific authority claims that it is a mistake to clean brass with acid, as it soon becomes dull after such treatment. Sweet oil and putty powder followed by soap and water is recommended as one of the best mediums for brightening brass or copper.

There are a certain number of toilet appointments that every one should keep in a convenient place, well corked but ready for use. Among these the first is ammonia, which is unequaled in its cleansing properties. Then comes vaseline, glycerine, borax, alum, camphor and alcohol. Every one of these drugs is needed. If one is feverish or the breath not quite sweet, a few drops of camphor in a tumbler of water will be found excellent to ringe out the mouth and throat.

The following is rather a novel way to remove ink stains from linen, but the discoverer claims it is unfailing, and it certainly is harmless: then wash out the tallow and dip the spot in it, ink stain will disappear. The suet that envelops sheep kidneys when rendered out make the pure tallow. pure tallow. Keep a little gallipot of it in the house, and when young hopeful comes home with his cuffs spotted with ink it will be easy to remove the stains.

The yolk of eggs made into a plaster, with honey and flour, of about the consistency of mustard paste, gives speedy relief to one afflicted with boils. The white, used as a coating for scalds and burns, excludes the air, which so aggravates the sufferings of a burned person. It is softer than collodion, therefore better, and is always at hand; it is more cooling than the once-popular sweet oil and cotton. The white, beaten with sugar, is invaluable in bronchial affections, especially in hoarseness, when a little lemon juice may be added with good results. Cider vinegar may be substituted for the lemon juice when the latter is not available. Leather chairseats may be revived by rubbing them with well-beaten white of eggs. Leather binding of books may also be cleaned by this method, but white Roman bindings should be washed with a solft flaunel saturated in soapsuds.

How to Graft.

L. H. Bailey, in his book on apple culture, gives these directions for grafting: In May, just as the leaves are pushing out vigorously, saw off the limb to be grafted where it is an inch or less in diameter. Trim the stub edges smooth and split it horizontally to a depth of four inches, not more. When the scion is prepared, ready for setting, it should comprise three buds. The lower end is cut wedge shaped, to fit into the slit, and on one side of the wedge part should be left one of three buds. When the scion is set, this bud will be deep down in the cleft and covered with wax, but, being nearer the source of nourishment than any of the others, it will be the most likely of all to flourish, and it will readily push through the wax. The scion is set in the cleft by exercising care that the inner surface of its bark matches the inner surface of the bark on the stub. Wax the whole over carefully and thoroughly, leaving no crack exposed. Two pounds of resin melted with one of beeswax and one-balf of tallow make an excellent wax. As soon as melted pour it into cold water, and when it cools work it with the hands until nearly white. Whenever the wax is handled the hands should be greased with tailow.

"We find," says the American Agriculturist, "That the best birds for breeding purposes are from one to three years old. We do not prefer pullets just commencing to lay for breeders. It is a great mistake to sell off the older hens and breed from pullets; heartier and better developed birds will be the result if bred from two and three year-old hers. More than one-half of early maturity is in high feeding."

A half dozen good stocky stems will give more and better fruit with currants than a mass of stems allowed to grow indiscriminately; cut out the old wood and a sufficient number of the new to reduce the number to six or seven good stems.
